

Bookmark, Boolean-Searching, Web-Browser, Database, Download, Email, Flame, Hacker Home-Page, HTML, Hyperlink, Internet, Internet-Site, Log-on, Search-Engine, Web-Page World-Wide-Web

Across

- | | |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 4) The web-page that immediatley comes up once a user opens the Interent 9) an item that keeps track of personal (favorite) webpages. | 5) The global "networks of networks" 10) To send a mean or insulting email to another person |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

12) An Internet program that is used to search for information on one particular subject.

15) To transfer a program onto your computer.

Down

1) A revolutionary Internet browsing system that allows for point-and-click navigation

3) A person who illegally breaks into computer files.

6) To sign into a computer system.

8) A highlighted word or graphic in a Web document.

13) A place on the Internet that contains information

14) A single Internet document containing information that can be accessed over the World Wide Web.

16) The word used for adding the words AND or NOT, between keywords in your searches.

2) a program holding a large amount of information that can be found by using a storehouse searcher.

4) A hyperlinked World Wide Web page

7) To send or receive a digital letter through the Internet.

11) Software that allows the computer to access the contents of the Internet.