Military records can be an important venue for genealogical research. Previous Facebook Group postings that can establish the very foundation for your efforts because they provide a good overview of what can be found in military records. Below are there two previous postings for your perusal from this Facebook Group. In addition below are my father's Naval discharge papers. Nearly 40 years later, he was given the status of a Veteran of Foreign Wars while in the Black Sea during the Bolshevik Revolution when his ship, the USS Smith Thompson, was fired upon while transporting wounded soldiers. The Russian Revolution was a period of political and social revolution that took place in the former Russian Empire and began during the First World War.

Closing Comments:

If the above links don't provide insight of how to proceed further, the following resources will because they offer ever more resources and imagination of how to proceed! It is even possible to obtain photos and other memorabilia. In fact, I am very impressed with the ease it is to obtain records. So I've given you perhaps a few more links than normal to illustrate that each one is unique and valuable and not to be avoided for present and future needs.
